

ULCW BANQUET ADDRESSED BY MRS. NELSON

The climax of the ninth triennial convention of the Central Pennsylvania Synodical United Lutheran Church Women was reached Friday evening when honored guests and visitors gathered in the Gettysburg College dining hall to hear Mrs. Ruth Youngdahl Nelson speak on "Adventuring With Christ."

Mrs. Nelson, the wife of Dr. Clarence T. Nelson, pastor of Augustana Lutheran Church, Washington, D. C., said: "We all like adventure but to do so we must break old molds, get out of old grooves, get into the jet age."

The widely-known churchwoman, speaker and author stated: "We are becoming a pagan nation. The church is holding its own but the population is increasing more rapidly than the church."

"MUST HAVE FAITH"

Comparing the preparation for a camping trip with the preparation for "adventuring with Christ," she enumerated items of equipment for the adventure. "We need a renewal of direction from His Book, depth study of God's Word, our travel book, our guide book. We need the power of prayer. The living presence of Jesus Christ must be in evidence in everyday living, especially in our homes. We must embrace a larger human relationship. We must have faith and the prospect of an everlasting home."

"We have not begun to adventure with Christ. Go home and adventure with the power that Jesus Christ has given you."

Mrs. Edgar D. Ziegler, Hanover, convention program chairman, was toastmistress. Before the banquet Mrs. Paul L. Reaser, Gettysburg, sang "Let Us Break Bread Together," and Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putman, Central Pennsylvania Synod president, gave the invocation.

Following the initiation ceremony starting at 2 o'clock a dinner will be held starting at 5 o'clock. The "Esquires," a band from Hagerstown, will play during the dinner and will provide the music for a floor show from Washington to be presented at 7 o'clock Sunday evening.

Laos Will Negotiate With Communists On "Cease-Fire"

By JOHN GRIFFIN
LUANG PRABANG, Laos (AP)—The military strongman of the Western-backed Laotian government sent an emissary today toward the rebel lines north of Vientiane, hoping to work out a cease-fire with the pro-Communists under the white flag of truce.

Gen. Phoumi Nosavan said he made the dramatic gesture to prove to the world "our good will for peace." His action in Vientiane, the administrative capital 130 miles south of here, followed a meeting with his own officers and U. S. military advisers.

Western diplomatic observers, noting that Phoumi's hourly broadcasts asking the Pathe Lao rebels for an effective cease-fire have gone unanswered, said they expected no rebel response now either.

REDS DEMAND TALKS

Phoumi sent Lt. Col. Siho Lamphouthakou to Vang Khe, a town 60 miles north of Vientiane on the main highway. Vang Khe is close to Vang Vieng, a stronghold recently captured by the pro-Communists. It was not clear which side holds it.

The rebels have been demanding that cease-fire talks be held on territory they control, claiming they are the victors in Laos' internal struggle. They had started new offensives just before the British-Soviet cease-fire call, gathering in new areas near Vientiane.

The Laotian crisis was flared anew in Washington, where President Kennedy called an unusual Saturday meeting of the National Security Council.

U.S. DECISION NEAR

Anxiety over military advances the Laotian rebels have made with their Soviet-supplied arms, further demoralizing royal Lao army soldiers, brought speculation in Washington that a U. S. decision to call for Allied military intervention may be near.

HUNTERSTOWN CLUB STUDIES TRACK PLANS

Should the Hunterstown Ruritan Club establish a "Go-Kart" track at its park in Hunterstown? That was the question discussed for nearly an hour by the Ruritans Friday evening at their meeting in the New Chester United Church of Christ parish hall. No final decision was reached.

The members were told that there is much interest in go-karts—the little cars that generally are operated by motors more often used on washing machines or chain saws, and which have wheels from 10 to 12 inches in diameter. There are about a dozen owners of karts in the Gettysburg area, it was estimated, and owners travel 30 to 40 miles to drive and race their vehicles that can go up to 70 miles per hour.

WOULD CHARGE FEES

Cost of a track would range "from $400 to $40,000 depending on what you want to put up," the Ruritans were told by Junior Trostel who said some installations are earth tracks a tenth of a mile around. Other sites have asphalted tracks with large grandstands and all types of conveniences for use of the drivers.

SENIOR PLAY SCORES HIT

Jane Austen's perennial favorite, "Pride and Prejudice," scored another success Friday evening before a large audience in the Gettysburg High School auditorium.

An all-Senior cast turned in high grade performances in the production which involved the most elaborate costumes and stage settings for any high school dramatic production in years. Antique furniture and gowns of the early 19th century added color to the three-act comedy of England about 1800.

Brenda Minter as the "frighty" mother of five daughters who achieved her goal of "marrying off" three of them in the course of the play, was capable in the female lead role. Prominent roles for Gudrun Rice and Cynthia Rosenberger as two of the daughters made them standouts in the evening's performance. David Johnson furnished a good share of the comedy as the father of the five marriageable young ladies and Chuck Korte performed well in the role of a young clergyman.

The entire cast, entertained after the play at a party at the home of Cynthia Rosenberger, won praise from the audience for their portrayals. They included Carolyn Guise, Mary Beth Hughes, Joy Fair, Larry Kujovich, Paula Kargas, Robert Dean, Linda Gerrard, Paula Lupp, Carolyn Hull, Jack Bucher and Patricia Rowe.

When Miss Ruth Melhenny and Mrs. Charles Smith, who directed the play, were called on stage after the final curtain to receive gifts from the cast, they, too, were wearing period costumes.

Jails, Hospitals Filled With Jeering Students

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Thousands of rioting youths turned Galveston's gay Splash Day into a nightmare for police officers Friday night and early Saturday.

City and county jails were filled with jeering young men, many of them apparently college students, who staged impromptu fights and hurled bottles and beer cans.

Many suffered bruises and lacerations but no serious injuries are reported.

Police Chief O. E. Henson said the disturbances started when the youths began throwing beer bottles on the pavement on Seawall Boulevard, near the bay, early Friday night.

USE FIRE HOSES

Sheriff's deputies were dispatched to help local police. Firemen sprayed hoses on the milling crowd of youngsters.

Hospital emergency rooms soon were jammed with rioters who appeared to be only slightly injured.

"We had them so thick in here at one time that they were lined up in the hall," said Dr. Homer Reed, emergency physician at John Sealy Hospital. "A lot of them had just minor bruises but they were bringing in their buddies who were hurt a little worse."

OPENS BATHING SEASON

Chief Henson said he had no idea how many young people were arrested but that they still were being booked. Estimates of those arrested varied from several hundred up to 2,000.

Splash Day is an annual event which officially opens the ocean bathing season.

Police Sergeant R. L. Keller said "a bunch of fights broke out among the college students. When one breaks out, several others break out."

PARTICIPATION OF COUNTY IN C-D TEST IS CALLED GOOD

Adams County's participation in the nationwide Civil Defense test Friday afternoon proceeded smoothly with four exceptions.

At least three persons refused to cooperate with CD wardens during the public part of the test—all in Gettysburg.

State Civil Defense headquarters were being contacted today by County Director William G. Weaver to determine whether the county should make arrests under the 1950 law, or whether it was thought that since the great majority complied with the test, those who did not should simply be warned this time that there are penalties for failure to follow the warden's directions.

"GOOD" PARTICIPATION

In his report to the state on public participation here, Weaver listed it as "good."

With the exception of the siren at Biglerville, the quick-call system worked perfectly as did the bell and light alarm system from the state CD headquarters which triggered the sounding of the alert and "take cover" signals. When a mechanical malfunction prohibited Biglerville's siren from sounding at the tone sent from the CD radio station here, manual operation was employed and the siren sounded only seconds after the others in the county.

Radio communications with the state CD headquarters was carried out quickly and efficiently through the Radio Amateurs Emergency service, with Charles Kranias sending and receiving the messages.

ASSIGNED PROBLEM

The problem given the county CD set-up for its "command post" exercise following the public participation was handled by 19 persons from throughout the county.

The state Civil Defense system carried the county CD office a resume of "what had happened in the world" immediately prior (Continued On Page 3)

GUARD UNIT HAS OPENINGS FOR JUNIORS

The local National Guard unit has openings by which 12 high school Juniors may serve a year of their military obligation before graduating from high school, Captain Donald E. Doersom, commanding officer of the local Howitzer Battery, said today.

He added that he expects the openings will not continue for long because of plans to again close enlistments in the guard units and so urged young men in high school, aged 17, but not more than 18½, to contact him or the armory here as quickly as possible if they wish to take advantage of the opportunity.

Under the plans present Juniors, who will become Seniors next fall and who are at least 17 years of age, may enlist in the local National Guard unit. They will receive their basic training while in high school and then report for six months active duty with the Army after graduation.

Under the plan they will have served one year of their required 3½ years of active reserve duty while in high school, will receive their six-month active duty with the Army immediately after high school, and then, if they wish to continue in college, will be able to continue their active reserve status during the college years, so that by the time they are Juniors in college they will have fulfilled the 3½-year active reserve participation.

Under the plan they will remain the next 4½ years in the inactive reserve, subject to call only in national emergency.

Captain Doersom said the plan "offers an excellent opportunity to the young man who wishes to get his military obligation behind him before he starts his life's work."

OPENS BATHING SEASON

Chief Henson said he had no idea how many young people were arrested but that they still were being booked. Estimates of those arrested varied from several hundred up to 2,000.

Police Sergeant R. L. Keller said "a bunch of fights broke out among the college students. When one breaks out, several others break out."

News Briefs

COQUILHATVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congolese troops kept President Moise Tshombe a virtual prisoner here today and his Katanga government protested the soldiers intend to hand him over to his bitter enemies.

The troops imposed a blockade on the Congo politicians after a unity conference turned into a row.

The Katanga government in Elisabethville protested to the United Nations that the Congolese army planned to take Tshombe and his foreign minister, Evariste Kimba, to Stanleyville and hand them over to followers of Patrice Lumumba.

ALGIERS (AP)—Diehard rightist settlers who remained underground during the abortive revolt against President Charles de Gaulle emerged today with defiant calls for a new uprising.

Less than three days after the generals' revolt was crushed, tracts appeared on the streets of Algiers calling for resistance to De Gaulle.

Tracts of the "Organization Secret Army" threatened a new uprising in a desperate bid to preserve European domination of this North African territory. No one bothered to erase dozens of OAS slogans painted on streets and walls.

Accuses Mate Of Strangling Strange Woman

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—An itinerant carnival worker who has admitted that five of his children died during nationwide family wanderings now has been accused by his wife of strangling a strange woman in a fit of anger 12 years ago.

But police so far have been unable to find the shallow grave—on the edge of a dump in upstate New York—where Kenneth E. Dudley supposedly buried the woman, known only as Jean.

Nor have they been able to determine that a woman answering Jean's description ever was reported missing.

Dudley, 47, allegedly strangled Jean after she picked his pocket. Inspector Harry S. Sanderson revealed Friday night that Dudley's wife, Irene, 44, related the strange episode to two New York state policemen who recently questioned the couple in Virginia, where they are held on murder charges in the malnutrition death of one of their children.

Sanderson gave this account, based on statements Mrs. Dudley made to New York state trooper David Leroy and Syracuse detective Robert Bush:

The Dudleys met Jean, a black-haired woman about 25, in a bar at Syracuse, where they lived at the time. Jean accompanied them to another bar at Bridgeport on Oneida Lake. On the 10-mile drive home, the women wanted to make a rest stop along the highway.

It was as Jean followed Mrs. Dudley out of the automobile that she allegedly picked Dudley's pocket.

Mrs. Dudley said her husband throttled Jean until her body went limp, then placed the body in the back of the car.

The couple drove about for a time and then stopped at a dump near Bridgeport.

The Dudleys are known to have had 10 children since they were married in 1934. Only three children survive.

F. H. FURNEY IS ELECTED BY ROUND TABLE

F. Harmon Furney, Sunset Ave., post office clerk and battlefield guide, was elected president of Gettysburg Civil War Round Table Thursday evening at its meeting in the GAR home, E. Middle St. He will succeed William G. Shoemaker II.

Other officers named were G. Henry Roth, vice president; John K. Weitzel, secretary; George Olinger, treasurer, and members of the board, Dr. Frederick Tilberg, Dr. Harry Pfanz and retiring President Shoemaker.

Frank Britcher was named chairman of a committee to consider possible variations in the meeting nights.

Prof. William C. Darrah of the Gettysburg College faculty told about the life of Herman Haupt, onetime Gettysburg College instructor and operator of preparatory schools here, who became one of the nation's most famed railroad engineers and was "czar" for the railroads for the government during the Civil War.

TELLS OF HAUPP

Professor Darrah noted how General Haupt had railroads operating into Westminster with supplies 10 hours after the battle of Gettysburg began. He secured help to stand along the railroad route with water and wood supplies to provide the engines with fuel to keep the convoys running. Meantime he was having the railroad into Gettysburg reconstructed so that within a few days after the battle trains were going into the town to evacuate wounded and bring in supplies.

His most permanent monument, the Hoosic tunnel, brought him grief. Massachusetts refused to send troops to the Union armies unless Lincoln promised to keep Haupt out of Massachusetts. He lost his personal fortune on the tunnel but by the time he died had paid back all but $30,000 of the $800,000 others had invested in it.

karts, others prefer to use them for "family amusement" at the tracks set up for the vehicles. Trostle told the Ruritans. Discussion by members indicated that if the club sets aside a kart track at its park, the use should be strictly supervised for safety and insurance would be secured. Trostle said that at most tracks users pay a fee of $1 or so which covers the insurance costs plus operation costs.

President James Black Jr. told the club district Ruritan officials have asked the Hunterstown group to seek to establish another club in same area nearby during the coming year.

TO BEGIN GRADING

Approval was given to begin grading the Ruritan Park. Reports indicated grading of the entire park and placing of a ball diamond would cost about $4,000.

Deciding that $4,000 would be too great an expense at one time, the club voted to begin grading operations and do "about $1,000 worth" in the playground area.

Approval was given for a combined donkey ball game and festival to be held this summer.

URGES OBSERVANCE

Reports at the meeting showed $50 profit made on a food sale and that 10 members of the Hunterstown club attended a joint meeting with the Shady Grove club recently.

G. Henry Roth, a member of the Adams County Civil War Centennial Commission, spoke on Adams County in the Civil War and urged the Ruritans to consider some type of observance of the Civil War activities in the Hunterstown area during the Centennial period.

CALL SECURITY COUNCIL MEET AT WHITE HOUSE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy summoned the National Security Council into an extraordinary Saturday session today amid a deepening anxiety here over Soviet-backed rebel military successes in Laos.

There was speculation the administration might be close to a decision for Allied military intervention on the side of the pro-Western Laotian government, but officials declined to indicate what if any new steps the President might order.

Kennedy flew back to Washington early today following a speech in Chicago Friday night, where he said: "We are the chief defender of freedom in a time of maximum danger. We have committed ourselves to the defense of dozens of nations. This we are determined to do."

SPOKE OFF THE CUFF

Kennedy, speaking to 5,000 Democrats at a fund-raising dinner, threw away his prepared text, dealing mainly with domestic matters. He spoke off the cuff for about 15 minutes, and then abruptly ended his speech.

"We can only defend the freedom of those who are ready to defend themselves," he said. "Our greatest ally is that people desire to be free."

It was Kennedy's second speech in two days. In New York Thursday night, he told the American Newspaper Publishers Association that the nation faced an unprecedented threat from the Communist drive to expand its power in the world.

Burned Out Family Needs Furniture

Gettysburg firemen today made an appeal for donations of furniture and house furnishings for the Robert Mallett family, burned out of its home in Cumberland Twp. Thursday.

Clothing and food was received in sufficient supplies for the family and arrangements were made by which Mr. Mallett's parents and some of the younger Mallett's children are temporarily residing with relatives in Gettysburg while Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mallett and the smaller children are staying in the trailer of the elder Malletts. They plan to rebuild their home.

Those who may wish to donate bunk beds for the youngsters or other furnishings are asked to call the fire house here and leave their name and address and a truck will be sent to pick up the articles.

to Thursday, gave wind velocities and direction and then stated that bombs of certain potencies had dropped at certain hours on certain localities. From that information it was up to the county CD headquarters to determine how it might have affected the county.

The problem showed a two-megaton bomb hitting West York, a three-megaton bomb dropping at Middletown and a 10-megaton bomb dropping at Accident, Md. Various other cities were listed as hit by bombs, but as far as the county CD officials could determine from tables available to them of mileages, wind carrying of fallout, etc., only the York, Middletown and Accident, Md., bombs would have had any effect on the county.

40 COUNTIANS "KILLED"

Harry Fasnack, York Springs, radiation specialist for the county CD, headed up the survey of what would have occurred from radiation and bomb blast. The tables showed that the East Berlin-Abbottstown area would have suffered some 40 deaths, 120 injuries and 100 made homeless as a result of the blast at West York.

The wind currents and location of the bombings indicated that whatever help the people injured and homeless in the East Berlin-Abbottstown area would receive would have to be given within about the first hour after the blasts. After that the radiation dosage would have been too high for anyone to venture out.

Western Adams County received most of its radiation from the Accident, Md., blast. The northern part of the county would be affected by the Middletown blast and the eastern zone by both Accident, Md., and the West York blasts.

DETAILS OF PROBLEM

The general public, according to the tables used by Fasnack, would under the circumstances have to stay in cover from 24 hours to 36 hours before they could venture forth.

The bomb bursts were listed as falling about 9 o'clock in the evening. After the first hour everyone would have to be under cover. By 12:45 o'clock in the morning Civil Defense workers would have been able to venture forth in parts of the county if they wore protective clothing and remained outdoors only 15 to 30 minutes and then returned to be decontaminated.

Thus whatever fire fighting or rescue work could be carried out would have to occur within about a half hour after the explosions—before the fall-out built the radiation above human tolerance, and could not be resumed until about three hours after that period.

TO STRESS SPEED

Assistant Civil Defense Director Roger Myers asked: "That means those people would die because they could not be helped. They'd just have to be wiped off?" A check of the figures concerning radiation and its effects showed and that any rescuers would be equally certain of receiving equally high dosage of fatal radiation.

The discussion also led the county group to decide to stress local rescue efforts to take advantage of the period before fallout would become too dangerous. Civil Defense Director Weaver said: "According to those figures it would be senseless to figure on help from far reaches of the county. By the time help arrived radiation would be so high they could do nothing, but would have to find cover for hours. Local CD setups should be prepared to take care of their own quickly, during the time they would have to do the work."

Planning Group To Meet Friday

The long range planning committee on conservation of water and soil of the Agricultural Extension Association will meet at 7:30 o'clock next Friday evening in the West Street Bank.

Three resource specialists, Robert B. Warner, survey party leader, Potomac River Basin Survey; Ivan McKeever, state conservationist; Hobart S. Sockman, assistant state conservationist, will speak.

The discussion will include a review of the Potomac River Basin project as it affects Adams County. Robert Lott is chairman of the committee.

JAILED FOR HEARING

Ronald A. Phillips, 219 S. Queen St., Littlestown, has been charged by Myrna G. Mundorff, Hanover, with surety of the peace before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder. A hearing was to be held at 11 o'clock this morning on the charge. Phillips was placed in jail in lieu of $500 bail until the hearing.

GROUP MEETS THURSDAY

The Adams County 4-H Senate will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the West Street Bank to elect officers and advisors. New 4-H Senators will be introduced.

Eloise Topper, R. 3, was among the 23 Letterkenny Depot Ordinance Secretaries who were honored Tuesday at a luncheon in the Officers' Club in observance of National Secretaries Week.

CONSTABLE IS DISCHARGED

Spring Grove Constable Clair L. Bollinger Friday was removed from office as a constable and directed by the York County court to surrender his private detective license within 72 hours as a result of his conviction in January of five charges of extortion and false pretense.

Judge Robert I. Shadle did not pass sentence on Bollinger since the defendant has chosen to stand trial next week on six other charges.

Bollinger, who operates a detective agency at 54 S. Beaver St., York, is scheduled to stand trial on charges of violating the private detective's act, malfeasance in office, two extortion counts, conspiracy to do an unlawful act and fraudulent conversion of property.

He was scheduled for sentence today on the previous five charges and Judge Shadle remarked that he was under the impression that Bollinger was not going to stand trial on the remaining charges.

EXPLAINS DELAY

But Shadle said that since Bollinger chose to go to trial and the fact that new motions may be argued on the results of the trial and appeals may be taken to higher courts, the delay in sentencing may be substantial.

"We believe that in the public interest," said the court, "that these offices should no longer be held by him by reason of his conviction for misbehavior in office."

Judge Shadle indicated that he was somewhat disturbed by the turn of events as he referred to the fact that Bollinger would now stand trial.

He directed that Bollinger's trials proceed next week without interruption and that imposition of sentence be deferred until the outcome is determined in the six charges.

Bollinger formerly operated an office on York St. here.

Day began at a dance being held for the members of the VFW and their ladies there.

Judges for the essay contest were Col. John S. D. Eisenhower, Judge W. C. Sheely and Cliff Arquette. In a note to Chairman Powell, Col. Eisenhower said the objective of the VFW in encouraging patriotism through participation by high school students with essays on the subject of loyalty "is most creditable." He added that the students participating in the essay contest are to "be congratulated."

In a similar note, Judge Sheely wrote, "All of the essays were so well written and expressed such basic loyalty to American ideals that it was difficult to make a choice. It is encouraging to know that students in our schools are so well grounded in American ideals. The VFW is performing a great service in promoting Loyalty Day."

Meanwhile, a worried King Savang Vathana sought quietly in his royal capital here a way to unite his kingdom, torn in a civil war that threatens to spread.

The king discussed with Prince Norodom Sihanouk, premier of neighboring neutral Cambodia, possible compromises to end the fighting.

IS PESSIMISTIC

Sihanouk was openly pessimistic about the impasse. Savang was described as deeply concerned because his leftist Pathet Lao countrymen have failed to meet the cease-fire Britain and the Soviet Union asked five days ago.

Foreign diplomats filled this royal Laotian capital, nestled among cloudy mountain peaks, to see the Buddhist cremation of the late King Sisavang Vong, who died 18 months ago.

Though pro-Red forces stand 50 miles north and south of Luang Prabang, the lavish religious ceremony and the holiday fun that goes with it made the civil war seem remote.

"The entire situation is veiled in a mixture of Western cloak-and-dagger mystery and Oriental mysticism," said one diplomat.

5,341 Visitors In Gettysburg
Over Weekend: An estimated 5,341 persons visited the Gettysburg battlefield and the National cemetery over the weekend, and crowded the highways leading into and through Gettysburg, particularly on Sunday, brought out by the ideal spring weather and new blooms.
There were 63 guided trips
over the battlefield on Saturday

Minstrel Show Presented Here:
More than 500 persons were at the Eagles home on Chambersburg street Sunday afternoon to witness an "all-girl" minstrel show staged by members of the Coatesville auxiliary of the Eagles, under the direction of Mrs. Helen Ashenfelder, Coatesville, past state president of the away.

The minstrel "troupe" of 35 women was organized to stage entertainment in the U. S. vet-

Accompanying the 35 mem-

The performance was a two-hour show lasting from 4 to 6 o'clock. Officials of the local lodge said plans were under way to have the Coatesville women play a return engagement in the fall.

and the "renovations and new

Short Funds May Cut Out
Water Safety Classes Of R. C.:
Ten per cent short of its mini-

Adams county chapter of the Red Cross today faced the ne-program unless about $1,400 more in cash donations is forth-

And the most likely victim of the shortage of funds is the summer swimming and water safety classes for children.

Today's Talk

KEEP ARRIVING

We are always arriving somewhere. As Tagore, the Indian poet and author, beautifully put it, even the road over which we travel is in itself a part of our destination.
How anxiously we look forward to the meeting of one much loved whom we have not seen for a long time. How his or her arrival thrills us with joy.
And how we are thrilled the moment we arrive at some destination toward which we have planned and worked.
As long as I can remember I have looked forward to the close of each day—its lengthening shadows, its sunset, its stars.
But the greatest arrival of all is to arrive in someone's life—there to carry beauty, happiness and helpfulness.
How strange it is that the very presence of some people cheers and brightens the atmosphere about them, no matter where they go. What a beautiful world with them a part of it!

Just to arrive in a new day and to feel that you are wanted in it, and that you have definite work to do, is an inspiration.
To bring happiness to someone else is to double your own.
I like to watch the effect upon an audience of the first arrival of a great actor or actress as one of the other takes over his or her role in the play.
We add lustre to virtue, enhance beauty, and build altars where the worship of true values may have honest expression, every time we determine to make our arrival—no matter where—a happy event.
Remember, you are always arriving somewhere!

Just Folks

ADVICE
Worry magnifies a trouble
Till it is more than double;
Fretting over some tomorrow
Only adds unto your sorrow.
Keep on going, whistling gayly,
Do the best you can do daily;
Let no distant danger floor you,
Wait until it's right before you.
Don't sit idly down and dread and fear it,
Wait until you're getting near it;
Keep your strength until you need it,
Fight your battle, don't concede it.
View the clouds without complaining;
Clouds have come without it raining,
Storms have threatened and pass over;
Don't let stubble hide the clover,
Nothing from the future borrow;
This is your day, not tomorrow.
Be of this day's tasks the master
And you need not fear disaster.

CIA HEAD MAY TESTIFY SOON

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee today awaited word from Allen W. Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, on whether he will testify about the CIA's role in the ill-fated Cuban invasion.
Dulles sent word to the Senate
Latin-American Affairs subcommittee Friday he would advise it of his decision over the weekend.
Chairman Wayne Morse, D-Ore., asked Dulles to appear with Acting Secretary of State Chester
Bowles Monday for secret briefings covering the invasion fiasco and future plans concerning Cuba.
The closed hearings were to have started Friday with testimony from Bowles.
But the hearing was postponed until Monday after Morse said Bowles had told him that "several emergencies" in foreign relations would make his appearance then impossible.
A State Department spokesman said Bowles asked for a postponement because he was extra busy,
not because of any special crisis.
National bank building.
Minimum rates for sewer usage will be $3 per quarter for domestic use, $6 per quarter for commercial or municipal use.
The rate structure was based on the use of water.

EICHMANN'S TRIAL MAY GO THROUGH JULY

By RELMAN MORIN

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel's evidence against Adolf Eichmann is so massive that indications today point to July, or later as the earliest possible date for the end of the hearings.
"We hope to complete our proof
by the end of June," Atty. Gen.
Gideon Hausner told the court.
Eichmann, has been indicted—and faces a possible death penalty—on 15 counts of "crimes against the Jewish people and crimes against humanity."
The former Gestapo officer's trial in Jerusalem is nearing its fourth week, and the three judges have expressed dissatisfaction over the pace of it.
"I hope the court will understand the difficulties which face us," Hausner told them. "We have to prove the detail of all the counts in the indictment, and bring evidence with respect to matters that took place over a period of 12 years in a whole series of places."
AHEAD OF SCHEDULE
"We cannot do justice to our case unless we are given time to do this. We can't strangle our own case."
He told the judges the prosecution, as of today, is running a half-day ahead of its timetable.
"This isn't enough," replied Supreme Court Justice Moshe Landau, president of the three-judge tribunal.
When the prosecution completes its case, Dr. Robert Servatius, chief defense counsel, will have his turn.
Servatius has given no indication as to the character of the defense, or how long it will take to present. He won't say whether he intends to put Eichmann on the stand.
COVER WIDE AREA
Meanwhile, the prosecution prepared to bring in witnesses to describe the Nazi operations against Jews in Poland, and then in the Soviet Union. Thereafter, the picture will be shifted to what the Nazis did in western Europe—
France, Holland and Belgium—during World War II.
Eda Lichtmann, telling the most dramatic story yet presented by an eyewitness, is due to return to the stand later in the hearings.
She was living in a village near Cracow, Poland, when the Nazis marched in during September 1939.
SAW CHILDREN SLAIN
She testified that her father was one of a group of Jews shot to death in the first days.
She said she saw Jewish children killed when they cried.
Young men, forced to simulate Polish guerrillas in action against the Germans, were slaughtered in the forest, she said. "Their arms and legs were broken first."
Gestapo officers in motorcycle sidecars dragged aged Jews through the streets by their beards until the hair ripped away, she said.
And a group of Jews, wearing prayer shawls and "chanting to God," were drenched with kerosene and burned alive, Mrs. Lichtmann told a shocked audience in court.

Confidence In Stock Market Is Threatened

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Public
confidence in the American Stock
Exchange has been threatened,
according to government lawyers,
by two members accused of massive market rigging.
Attorneys for the Securities and Exchange Commission said Friday multiple wrongdoings attributed to Wall Streeters Jerry and Gerard Re "have struck a heavy
blow at that market."
The exchange, the second largest
in New York City and the nation, promptly issued a statement saying it has instituted a number
of new rules and policies since
the SEC inquiry began. It expressed confidence these "will prevent the recurrence of a similar situation."
The exchange has suspended the Re's pending a decision in their case by the SEC.
"ILLEGAL PEDDLING"
Evidence against the Re's, father and son, was summed up in a 96-page brief filed with the five
members of the SEC. The Re's, exchange specialists who conducted the daily auctions in about 20 stocks, were accused of illegally peddling nearly $10 million in stocks, generally at high prices
in rigged markets.
The investigators noted that the alleged chicanery was uncovered
following 30 years in which "the confidence of the public in the operation of the exchange markets has been slowly rebuilt" following the scandals of the early
depression days.
In a brief of their own, the Re's
conceded that punishment is warranted on the facts of the case.
However, they contended that
Gerard Re's violations were unwitting and asked that he be dealt with lightly.
OTHERS INVOLVED
A number of unsuspecting celebrities were indirectly involved
in the operations of the Re's, according to the case record. These included Chuck Dressen, manager
of the Milwaukee Braves; Cookie
Lavagetto, manager of the Minnesota Twins; Toots Shor, Manhattan restaurateur; Vincent F. Al-
bano Jr., a Republican leader on
New York's East Side, and Abraham Gellinoff, chairman of the law committee of New York's
Tammany Hall, the Manhattan
Democratic organization.
The SEC brief said these and
others were persuaded by the Re's to open brokerage accounts
through which they invested in stocks favored, for one reason or another, by the Re's. Illegal authority to buy or sell for these accounts at their own discretion.

alleged chicanery was uncovered
following 30 years in which "the
confidence of the public in the operation of the exchange markets has been slowly rebuilt" following the scandals of the early

In a brief of their own, the Re's
conceded that punishment is warranted on the facts of the case.
However, they contended that
Gerard Re's violations were un-
witting and asked that he be dealt
with lightly.

OTHERS INVOLVED

A number of unsuspecting celebrities were indirectly involved
in the operations of the Re's, according to the case record. These included Chuck Dressen, manager
of the Milwaukee Braves; Cookie
Lavagetto, manager of the Minnesota Twins; Toots Shor, Manhattan restaurateur; Vincent F. Al-
bano Jr., a Republican leader on
New York's East Side, and Abraham Gellinoff, chairman of the
law committee of New York's
Tammany Hall, the Manhattan
Democratic organization.

The SEC brief said these and
others were persuaded by the Re's to open brokerage accounts
through which they invested in stocks favored, for one reason or another, by the Re's. Illegal authority to buy or sell for these
accounts at their own discretion.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Public
confidence in the American Stock
Exchange has been threatened,
according to government lawyers,
by two members accused of massive market rigging.

Attorneys for the Securities and Exchange Commission said Friday multiple wrongdoings attributed to Wall Streeters Jerry and Gerard Re "have struck a heavy
blow at that market."

The exchange, the second largest
in New York City and the nation, promptly issued a statement
saying it has instituted a number
of new rules and policies since
the SEC inquiry began. It expressed confidence these "will prevent the recurrence of a similar situation."

The exchange has suspended the Re's pending a decision in their
case by the SEC.

"ILLEGAL PEDDLING"

Evidence against the Re's, father and son, was summed up in
a 96-page brief filed with the five
members of the SEC. The Re's,
exchange specialists who conducted the daily auctions in about 20 stocks, were accused of illegally peddling nearly $10 million in stocks, generally at high prices
in rigged markets.

The investigators noted that the
alleged chicanery was uncovered

confidence of the public in the operation of the exchange markets has been slowly rebuilt" following the scandals of the early
depression days.

WARREN SPAHN
HURLS SECOND
NO-HIT GAME

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Warren Spahn, 46 years old and a wonder, has scored another no-hitter.

The Milwaukee Braves' southpaw great faced the minimum of 27 batters in hand-cuffing the San Francisco Giants 1-0 Friday night for his second no-hitter in his last six National League starts.

"It's just a crazy wonderful game," Spahn said. "Here I go 16 years and throw a no-hitter. That's enough for anyone. But here I've done it again. It's just crazy — but wonderful."

Spahn, who reached a milestone in his career by holding the Philadelphia Phillies hitless in a 4-0 victory in Milwaukee last Sept. 16, posted his 29th league triumph while dazzling the Giants. HAS 52 SHUTOUTS

The biggest left-handed winner in National League history — and truly destined for baseball immortality — he suffered two momentary lapses of control. However, he recovered quickly on each occasion, getting the next batter to hit back to him for the start of a double play.

Spahn, who turned 40 just last Sunday while hurling a 3-1 victory over the Pirates at Pittsburgh, became the second oldest ever to fire a no-hitter. Cy Young pitched his third and last hitless game at the age of 41 in 1908.

As usual, Spahn rewrote the record book with the triumph. In addition to being the biggest southpaw winner in league history, he also holds the circuit record for shutouts with 52.

DRAG BUNT FAILS

The Giants hardly got a loud foul off the deliveries of the picture book pitcher with the big kick. It was a drag bunt by pinch-hitter Matty Alou which nearly took the lustre off the terrific performance before 8,518 fans with one out in the ninth.

Spahn, a perfectionist on the mound, afield and at bat, turned in the brilliant play himself. He raced over and scooped the ball to first baseman Joe Adcock to just nip the speedy Alou.

Needing just one out, Spahn got pinch-hitter Joe Almaguero to hit a hard grounder to shortstop Roy McMillan. The ball bounced off McMillan's chest, but he pounced on it and threw out Almaguero by a stride.

STRIKERS OUT FIVE

Spahn struck out five in addition to the pair of walks which led to double plays. Charlie Lau, a reserve catcher, committed the only Milwaukee error. Lau dropped a foul pop by Ed Bailey in the ninth, but Spahn took Lau off the hook by striking out the San Francisco catcher.

Spahn was given all the cushion he needed in the first inning when the Braves scored an unearned run off Sam Jones. Frank Bolling singled, went to second on a passed ball and scored on Hank Aaron's two-out single to right.

4-MILE RELAY
MARK BROKE
AT DES MOINES

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A trio of Olympic standouts takes aim today at national and world marks in the Drake Relays after an unheralded Western Michigan team kicked off the assault with an American mark in the four-mile relay.

Featured on today's schedule are broad jumper Ralph Boston of Tennessee State, high jumper John Thomas of Boston University and sprinter Wilma Rudolph of Tennessee State.

Boston and Miss Rudolph are Olympic champions. Thomas, who has cleared 7 feet in the high jump 71 times, finished third in the games at Rome.

ALL HARD PRESSED

But those stars and the rest of the 995 athletes competing in the track and field classic will be hard pressed to match the pace established by Western Michigan.

Triggered by a cross country runner and a quarter miler, Western Michigan's quartet raced through the gruelling four-mile event in 16:30.4.

That bettered the Drake record by 25 seconds, was more than three seconds under the American collegiate record and was more than 2 seconds faster than the mark of 16:52.6 set in 1952 in London by an American all-star team.

Another long race—the two-mile run — and the 440-yard hurdles were other standout events watched by a crowd of about 10,000 in 50-degree weather.

Pat Ciohesy, Houston, scored an 8:58.6 victory in the two-mile.

Georgia Tech's Ron Ablowich lowered the Drake 440-yard hurdles record to :52.1.

RADEMACHER
BATTLES JONES
THIS EVENING

NEW YORK (AP)—Pete Rademacher's nationally televised 10-round fight with undefeated Doug Jones tonight at St. Nicholas Arena is just another phase in a unique and fantastic ring career for the former Olympic heavyweight champion.

A rheumatic fever victim at 19, an Olympic gold medal winner at 28, a challenger for the world heavyweight crown in his first pro fight at 29, a "washed-up" pug at 30 and now at 32, Rademacher is attempting the long road back for another crack at Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title.

A chronological listing of events in the balding Grandview, Wash. fighter's fluctuating career, best illustrates this strange saga of a man who refuses to be discouraged.

TOLD TO QUIT RING

Nov., 1956—Doctors advised Rademacher to forget about boxing.

Dec., 1956—Rademacher won Olympic heavyweight championship in Melbourne.

Aug., 1957—Stopped by Patterson in six rounds and advised by Tommy Loughran, the referee, to quit the ring.

Sept., 1957—Announced retirement from ring.

May, 1958—Came out of retirement and signed to meet heavyweight contender Zora Foley.

July, 1958—Kayoed by Foley in four rounds and retired again.

Aug., 1959—Won his first professional fight, knocking out one Tommy Thompson.

FIFTH IN ROW

Feb., 1960—Scored his fifth victory in a row with a knockout over Ulli Nitzsche of Germany in Frankfurt.

April, 1960—Held to a draw by Ulli Ritter of Germany in Berlin.

April, 1960—Kayoed by Brian London in London.

June, 1960—Began another victory string by knocking out Lamar Clark in tenth round.

April 14, 1961—Won his seventh straight, and 13th in 17 fights, by knocking out Dan Vanderford in the first round.

Jones, 24, has won all 17 of his pro bouts, nine by knockouts.

Yale Defeats

Abilene Runners

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Don't tell track coach Oliver Jackson of Abilene Christian College those Ivy Leaguers can't be tough to beat. He knows different.

Abilene had its sights set on winning four of the eight relay titles at the Penn Relays this weekend, the distance medley, 440, 880 and the mile. But along came Yale Friday and then there were three.

Yale whipped the runners from the Southwest in the distance medley, although it took a record breaking performance to do it. The Elis won in 9:53.9 bettering the 9:55.3 set by Villanova in 1958.

In Friday's other feature event, Michigan shot the works in the four mile and won on a terrific finishing kick by Ergas Leps, the native Lithuanian and Canadian Olympian. He collared Harvard's dogged anchorman, Mark Mullin, in the stretch, and led the Ivy League home by some eight yards. The time for the rain-swept race was 17:16.3.

BRAVES TAKE FIRST PLACE IN SENIOR LOOP

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Warren Spahn, the 40-year-old southpaw wonder, pitched the second no-hitter of his 17-year career and gained his 29th victory Friday night, walking two but facing the minimum 27 batters in a 1-0 victory over San Francisco that hoisted the Milwaukee Braves past the Giants into the National League lead.

St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 10-9 in 11 innings in the only other NL game played. Pittsburgh-Cincinnati and Los Angeles-Chicago were postponed by cold.

Two batters reached base against the sturdy southpaw, and both were rubbed out in double plays that Spahn himself started. Thus he faced the minimum 27 men while gaining his 32nd shutout, a total which like his pile of victories, is an all-time high among NL left-handers.

The Braves, who have won three in a row and five of their last six games in a climb from the cellar, got their run in the first inning—an unearned tally when singles by Frank Bolling and Hank Aaron sandwiched a passed ball by new Giant catcher Ed Bailey.

Pinch-hitter Red Schoendienst, for the Cardinals with a two-run double off losing reliever Dallas Green (1-2) after the Phils had gone ahead in the top of the 11th on a squeeze bunt by Bob Malkmus. The Cards, blowing a 6-1 lead, came from behind on a tying, two-run double by pinch-hitter Al Cioctte won his first in the Alex Grammas in the ninth. NL in relief. He has lost two.

Share Tourney Lead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Those who should know say that the back nine of the Augusta Country Club course is a golfer's hades, but titleholder co-leader Kathy Cornelius thinks it is the next thing to paradise.

The Phoenix, Ariz., bronette chopped out four birdies after a shabby 40 on the front nine to come wheeling home with a one-over par 73 Friday, giving her a 36-hole total of 147 and a share of the halfway lead with Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif.

Betty Jameson thrilled the crowd with the sub-par round of the $6,500 tournament Friday—a sparkling 71. The round moved her into third place with a 149, one stroke ahead of veterans Louise Suggs of Atlanta and Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill.

Barbara McIntire of Lake Park, Fla., moved into the lead among amateurs by firing an 80 for a two-day total of 159.

Rain and cold weather, which canceled two Eastern League baseball games, apparently got the best of Springfield's Hal Kunkel, who allowed Reading to score its winning run on a wild pitch.

The Binghamton at Williamsport and Lancaster at Johnstown games were postponed because of the wintry weather.</

Zettle Recommends Early Control Of Flea Beetles

FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

Have you noticed small pin-head holes eaten into the leaves of early vegetable plants? This injury is caused by various species of flea beetles. When the flea beetles are abundant, over one-half of the leaf surface may be eaten on young plants, which retards growth and may cause the plants to die.

FRANK S. ZETTEL

Some of the favorite host plants for flea beetles are radishes, spinach, beets, egg plants, tomatoes, and cabbage. Watch these plants closely for flea beetle injury and use control measures when the injury appears.

Dusting with either 4 per cent malathion or 1 per cent rotenone is effective when applied about every five days. Both materials are safe to use on plants and have a relatively low toxicity to humans. Malathion should not be used on edible portion of plants such as spinach, beet tops, etc. within seven days of harvest.

USE PRECAUTION

A 5 per cent methoxychlor dust may also be used for flea beetle control on vegetables. Methoxychlor should not be used on greens or edible portions within two weeks of harvesting.

Growers wishing to spray for flea beetle control may use mala-thion or methoxychlor. Follow same precautions when spraying as for dusting.

Is asparagus a favorite vegetable with your family? You can grow your own supply. Plant asparagus where it will not interfere with other plantings. Here are some planting pointers:

Asparagus needs a well-drained, almost neutral soil. If lime is needed, apply part of the lime before plowing or spading. To determine how much lime to apply, have your soil tested through your county extension office.

USE HIGH PHOSPHORUS

Apply a liberal application of a high phosphorus fertilizer, such as 0-20-10 or 0-20-20, before tilling at a rate of four to five pounds per 100 square feet. When plants are established, apply additional nitrogen.

Plant one-year-old crowns. Yield trials show little advantage in putting out two-year or older crowns. Don't use crowns from old plantings and don't plant asparagus where it was grown previously.

Make furrows for the crowns 8-10 inches deep and about six inches wide at the bottom. Space crowns about 18 inches apart with the buds pointing up. Cover with two inches of top soil. Firm soil lightly around the roots but avoid pressure on the bud. As growth starts, pull more soil into the furrow.

Do not harvest spears for two years. The third year, harvest spears for two or three weeks. The fourth year, harvest for six or eight weeks but stop by late

CHOOSE CAREFULLY

Hundreds of different vegetable varieties are available, and choosing varieties for the garden requires planning.

Plant breeders have developed many new varieties and hybrids, some for a certain area or for a special use. Some varieties are excellent for freezing or canning and others are best used fresh. Many varieties are more oddities and have little place in a limited garden space.

SUGGESTED VARIETIES

Here is a list of some suggested varieties for Adams County. If your favorite variety is not listed here, this does not mean it is unsuitable. If you are satisfied, continue to plant it. But if you are a beginning gardener or are dissatisfied with your present varieties, try some of these:

Asparagus: Mary Washington.
Beans: bush: Lima — Fordhook, Baby Fordhook, Early Market, Fordhook 242, Thorogreen.

Beans: bush: green — Stringless Black Valentine, Stringless Green Pod, Tendergrass, Contender, Topcrop, Tendercrop.

Beets: Early Wonder, Detroit Dark Red Strains.

Broccoli: Italian Green Sprouting (Calabrese), Waltham 29 (fall), DeCicco.

Cabbage: early — Resistant Golden Acre, Marion Market, Bonanza, Globe Glory, Badger Market, CC Cross Hybrid, Red Acre.

Cabbage: late — Wisconsin All Season, Wisconsin Hollander 8, Mammoth Red Rock, Drumhead Savoy, Penn State Ballhead, Premium Flat Dutch.

Cauliflower: Early Snowball, Snowdrift, Super Snowball.

Carrots: Nates (Touchon), Danvers Half Long, Royal Chantenay, Imperator, Gold Pak. Corn: Sweet: early — North Star, Golden Beauty, Carmelcross, Sugar King.

Corn: Sweet: mid-season — Barbecue, F-M Cross, Gold Cup, Golden Cross Bantam, Wonderful, Seneca Chief, Victory Golden.

Home Economist Suggests Eating Variety Of Foods

MRS. HELEN D. TUNISON
Home Economist

Presence of high serum cholesterol in persons suffering with hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure has some people searching for a low-fat cholesterol diet.

Eating a variety of foods is the safest route for the person not under a doctor's care. The body uses many nutrients to do its work and food is the best source of these essential nutrients. To cut out certain foods completely may endanger rather than help the situation. Fruits, vegetables, dairy products, meat, eggs and cereals are needed each day.

Having a body weight near that recommended for your height and body build is another safety measure. Excess weight indicates a person is eating more calories than his body uses up for energy.

CALORIES INCREASING

Fat sources contain 24 times as many calories as the same amount of a protein or carbohydrate source. The number of calories from fat sources in the American diet is increasing. In 1910 about 32 per cent of a person's calorie intake came from a fat source, now it's about 44 per cent. Nutrition scientists recom-

Freezonian, Laxton's Progress. Pepper: Green—World Beater No. 13, California Wonder, Yolo Wonder, Calwonder.

Pepper: Hot—Hungarian Wax, Long Red Cayenne, Large Red Cherry.

Pumpkin: Small Sugar, Connecticut Field, Young's Beauty.

Radish: Spring—Early Scarlet Globe, White Icicle, Cherry Belle, Cavalier.

Rhubarb: McDonald, Victoria, Canada Red.

Spinach: Long Standing Bloomsdale, Virginia Savoy, King of Denmark, America.

Squash: Summer — White Bush Scallop, Summer Straightneck, Zucchini, Cocozelle, Caserta and other hybrids.

Squash: Fall—Table Queen, Buttercup, Butternut or Baby Butternut.

Squash: Winter — Delicious, Golden Hubbard, Green Hubbard, Blue Hubbard.

Tomato: Early—Pritchard, Valiant, Stokesdale, Queens, Big Early Hybrid, Moreton Hybrid, Penna. 103 Hybrid.

Tomato (main season): Rutgers, Marglobe, Longrod, Big Boy, Glamour and other hybrids.

Tomato: Yellow—Golden Jubilee, Sunray.

mend that about 25 per cent of a person's calorie needs should come from fat sources. Many persons are eating almost twice as much fat as they should.

Simple precautions may protect the family's wool garments against mildew, moth and carpet beetle damage. Clothing needs airing, brushing and removing spots even those that don't need complete drycleaning or laundering. Insects attack soiled areas and spots first.

SPRINKLE CLEAN GARMENTS

Before storing, sprinkle clean garments liberally with paradichlorobenzene or use a dependable spray. Pay special attention to pockets, cuffs, pleats and similar areas.

A five per cent DDT solution will help to control moths. Carpet beetles actually cause more damage than moths and are harder to control. For beetle control, use a household solution of one-half per cent dieldrin or one-half per cent lindane. Follow directions on the container carefully. Dieldrin and lindane are poisonous, so use care and keep them out of reach of children. Do not use the solution around hot pipes or near open flames or pilot lights—it's explosive.

AIR CLOSETS OCCASIONALLY

Dark, damp closets or basements encourage moths and beetles or mildew growth. Air your closet occasionally. If a closet becomes unusually damp in humid weather, use a dehumidifying agent until some of the moisture is absorbed.

Cane, wicker and rush furniture are big news in both high cost and moderately priced pieces. There are several reasons for an interest in these materials.

American furniture designers are looking back into history for inspiration as they plan furniture for today and the future. Cane is used for sides and backs of upholstered chairs and sofas and for wings of chairs. Cane offers an openness and lightness of scale and many different pattern possibilities in furniture design.

GET NEW SHAPE

The method of interweaving the materials tends to be traditional. Wicker may look much as it did on the porch rocking chairs of yesteryear, but the chair will have an entirely new shape. Chairs will feature a contour shaped back and seat of wicker, set into a wooden leg and arm-supporting frame. Cushioning will be crisp foam with tailored covers.

Cane, wicker and rush will give warmth and interest to the straight-line, simple style contemporary pieces.

PUSHED LUCK TOO FAR

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Jerome Stal, 23, said he thought he'd take a turn at burglarizing a bar after reading it had been hit five times recently. Police and the manager were waiting outside this time, however.

OLD CRIME

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Workers laying a sewer pipe dug up a skeleton in the backyard of a Flagstaff residence. The excitement died down when the Museum of Northern Arizona identified the bones as those of an Indian, buried about 1200 A.D.

Eye Witness Tells Story Of Polish Town Massacre

By RYLMAN MORIN

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — A woman witness at the trial of Adolf Eichmann quietly told the story Friday of a Nazi massacre in a Polish village, the murder of her own father, and the slaughter of children who wept.

"I saw this with my own eyes," said Eda Lichtmann, testifying in the trial of the former Gestapo officer accused by Israel of major complicity in the destruction of an estimated six million European Jews.

Mrs. Lichtmann's eyes were hidden behind dark glasses as she told her story in a flat, tired voice. When she finished, she removed the glasses for an instant and wiped her eyes with a handkerchief.

Eichmann, sitting in the prisoner's box directly in front of her, sat like a statue. He stopped leaning through the files beside him and leaned back in his chair, unmoving.

TESTIFIES IN YIDDISH

Mrs. Lichtmann testified in Yiddish, that when the Germans rolled into Poland some troops came into the village where she lived.

"They took the Jewish men and forced them to clean the streets with their bare hands. Then they were ordered to undress and behind each Jewish man there was a Nazi soldier with a fixed bayonet. The Jews were ordered to run, and if a Jew stopped, he would be stabbed in the back with the bayonet. Almost all the men returned home bleeding. Among them was my father."

On Sept. 12, 1939, soldiers and some officers began rounding up Jewish men, "without consideration for their age — my father among them."

Then they were loaded into trucks, which headed for a forest outside of the village. She ran after it and eventually came to a spot in the forest and found the bodies.

Mrs. Lichtmann said she left the village to live in the city of Krakow after this.

There, a few months later, she testified, all the Jews in the city were assembled. While some of the Germans broke into Jewish homes and looted, other herded Jewish men into a synagogue.

Dairymen like to see lush pastures come along for their dairy cows, but Joe Taylor, Penn State extension dairy specialist, sounds a warning: the change from winter feeding can cause mastitis. He advises feeding some hay and grain before cows go out to pasture each day early in the season.

FARM CALENDAR
Late Sowing Costly — Research shows that planting oats late in Pennsylvania has decreased yields as much as a bushel or more per acre for each day of delay, says Elmer Pifer, Penn State extension agronomist.

Get Sprayer Ready — Rainy spring days provide opportunity to get the sprayer ready for use, says Penn State extension agricultural engineers. Replace worn nozzles, broken or damaged hoses and make other needed repairs. On a warm day calibrate the sprayer for accuracy.

Prevent Rabbit Damage — Cottontail rabbits like to feed on new growth in home gardens and flower beds. Robert Wingard, extension wildlife management specialist, says fencing with 1-inch mesh poultry wire 18 inches to 2 feet high will protect the plants, or chemical repellents may be used to make the plants distasteful to the bunnies.

Save Your Toes — The whirling knife-edged blade of a rotary lawn mower is vicious, warns Ralph Patterson, extension safety specialist. He suggests choosing a mower that is shielded well down toward the ground and treating it as you would a naked buzz saw. Be careful and save your toes!

Test Hold-Over Seeds — Before planting left-over vegetable seed it's wise to make a germination test says James Dutt, extension vegetable specialist. Plant 25 or 50 seeds in good soil in a plant flat, or put 50 seeds between blotting paper kept moist and warm on a shallow tray or large plate.

'GUNSMOKE' TO FILM 34 HOUR SHOWS FOR TV

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Gunsmoke" finished shooting its first hour-long show this week. Says Dennis Weaver: "We thought it would never end."

The reaction is understandable. With Jim Arness, Amanda Blake and Milburn Stone, Weaver had made about 240 half-hours over a six-year stretch. It's no small change to a seven-day shooting schedule, double the usual amount.

"And we've got 34 of them to do this season," Dennis added with a sigh. "That will take us to the end of next March with hardly any time off. If we were going into such a schedule with a new show, it would be a little easier to work up enthusiasm. As it is, March seems a long, long distance away."

At the end of the season, Chester may turn in his badge and limp over the hill.

"I'm not saying I positively will leave," said Dennis. "I said that last year and then went back."

What changed his mind? "Money," he admitted. "I figured I had gotten about all I could get out of the part. But they offered me such a nice deal that I had to consider my family and accept. Now we've bought a lot and will build a house for the first time."

"Also there were certain fringe benefits. The major one was the chance to direct. I did three shows last year and will do some of the hours, too."

I asked Dennis how he thought "Gunsmoke" would fare in the new hour format.

"I don't know," he replied. "I worry about the time slot. We'll be on from 10 to 11 and so will lose a lot of the kids. That might hurt us."

In the name of her late husband, the widow of James R. McConaghie received one of the United States Department of the Interior's highest honors. Neal A. Butterfield, regional chief of the National Park Service's Recreation Resources Division, presented the Meritorious Service Award to Mrs. McConaghie in a special ceremony in her home, in Richmond, Va., this week.

"This award," Butterfield said, "recognizes more than 29 years of superior service to the federal government by James R. McConaghie. McConaghie, regional chief of boundaries studies for the service's accelerated recreation survey program, passed away at his desk last September."

With the award, Butterfield presented to Mrs. McConaghie the silver medal and pin, a certificate, a Department of the Interior lifetime pass, and a citation of McConaghie's superior service, all of which comprise the Meritorious Service Award.

The citation reads: "Mr. McConaghie joined the National Park Service on February 7, 1933, and became the first civilian superintendent of Gettysburg National Military Park. Later he served as superintendent of Vicksburg National Military Park, and was regional chief of boundary studies in the Region One office for a year and one-half before his death on September 27, 1960. Mr. McConaghie sought perfection in all his assignments, and resorted to parsonage basement into a recreation room."

to exhaustive reference and exploratory efforts. The pioneering work he did in conceiving and constructing mechanical interpretive aids and communication devices opened the door to new horizons in interpretive appreciation. His original audio and visual aids become prototypes of more elaborate ones now used throughout the service. Mr. McConaghie devoted much of his own time in assisting recreation and cultural youth groups. Because of his vast knowledge of the Civil War, he was frequently called upon to lecture before historical and civic groups. He prepared many elaborate maps depicting troop movements and other military operations to inform, educate and entertain his audiences. Mr. McConaghie served in the U. S. Army during World War I. As a fitting tribute to a man whose long career was characterized by an indomitable spirit and tireless effort beyond the call of duty, and for valuable accomplishments in stimulating public relations and pioneering in the field of mechanical interpretation, the Department of the Interior grants to Mr. McConaghie posthumously its Meritorious Service Award."

MERCERSBURG SYNOD TO MEET IN YORK MAY 9

The Mercersburg Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church will hold its 23rd annual legislative session at Bethany Evangelical and Reformed Church, York, Rev. Herbert L. Rice, minister, May 9 and 10.

Ministers and lay delegates from each of the 105 churches in the synod will be in attendance. The synod includes churches totaling 29,067 members in Adams, York, Franklin, Perry, Cumberland and Fulton Counties.

The main item of business before the synod meeting will be the vote on the constitution of the United Church of Christ. The latter body was formed in 1957 by a union of the Evangelical and Reformed Church with the general council of the Congregational Christian Churches.

A constitution for the United Church has subsequently been drafted and is now before the constituents parts of the United Church for approval. In order to become effective, the document must be approved by two-thirds of the 33 regional Evangelical and Reformed Church synods and by two-thirds of the local Congregational Christian Churches which vote on it. The differences in voting procedure reflects the difference in organizational structure of the two 'mating' groups.

TO ELECT OFFICERS
Plans will also be discussed to combine the work and organization of the Mercersburg Synod with that of the Pennsylvania Congregational Christian Conference to form a functioning regional organization of the United Church of Christ.

The synod will elect a vice president, secretary, treasurer and a lay member of the synodical council. The following are now serving in these capacities: Rev. Oliver K. Maurer D.D., Red Lion; Rev. Nevin R. Frantz, Arendtsville; Rev. Ernest W. Brindle, Hampton; and Royce Kohr, York.

Election to the various committees of the synod and to membership on the following boards of benevolent and educational institutions supported by the Mercersburg Synod will also take place: Homewood Church Home, the Mercersburg Academy, Hoffman Home for Children and Camp Michaux.

CITES NEED OF ASSISTANCE IN MENTAL CASES

In observance of National Mental Health Week, April 30-May 6, The Gettysburg Times will publish a series of articles prepared by local residents.

By REV. DR. P. L. REASER
Pastor
St. James Lutheran Church

"Mental health is everybody's business. No one is free from emotional stress. Some are overpowered by everyday problems and become mentally ill."

These are the opening words of a recent report on mental illness in Pennsylvania. Because mental health is everybody's business, our interest in mental health is of importance in every community.

The old-fashioned stigma concerning a mentally disturbed person is fast disappearing. We do not feel prejudiced toward a person who has appendicitis; he needs medical care and we help him get it. No more should we feel prejudiced toward the person with mental illness; he too needs special care and we must help him receive it.

Not only has the attitude of the community changed considerably toward the mental patient. The mental hospital also has altered its attitude toward those who come for help. Until recent years the institution considered its function to be giving custodial care to the patient; today its function is treatment, looking toward a cure. The institution had given him a place to sleep, food to eat and protection from harm; today proper treatment and medical care, looking forward always to preparing the patient to return to normal activity in society.

MOST RECOVER
Twenty-five years ago 20 per cent of those who went to a state mental institution returned to normal life. The other 80 per cent remained there for their natural

EYE CLINIC TO VISIT COUNTY

The Mobile Eye Clinic operated by the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind, in cooperation with the Office for the Blind, state Department of Public Welfare, and the Adams County Medical Society, will begin visits in Adams County next month.

The clinic's first visit is scheduled May 15 at York Springs. Subsequent visits will be made to McSherrystown, Fairfield and Gettysburg.

"We are interested in serving as many residents of Adams County as are eligible to participate in this program and urge everyone, regardless of age, who is eligible to write immediately for an appointment," Miss Betsy M. Shank, prevention consultant, said.

REQUEST FOR APPOINTMENT

Requests for appointments should be addressed to Miss Shank at the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind, 1607 N. Second St., Harrisburg.

Those eligible for the clinics are defined as persons receiving pensions for the blind, persons receiving assistance from the county or state, persons who are exempt from liability for federal income tax for reasons of insufficient income, and persons who can demonstrate their inability to pay a private doctor for eye care.

In requesting an appointment it is necessary to list the clinic site nearest the patient's home, the full name, birth date, address and income classification. It is also necessary that an appointment be requested prior to the clinic's arrival. Postal card notices will be sent to all persons requesting an appointment well in advance of the appointment date.

The association conducted a pre-school vision screening project Thursday at the Conewago Township Elementary School.

40 WOODEN SHIPS

Navy Extends Its Blockade To N. Carolina, Virginia

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27—The U. S. Navy today added the coast cities in North Carolina and Virginia to its list of Confederate seaports under blockade.

The action was ordered by Navy Secretary Welles after consultation with President Lincoln over methods of stemming the flow of arms, munitions and supplies to the rebel states.

Most of the 40 wooden ships that make up the United States fleet have been engaged in blockade duty since the fall of 1861. Since the fall of 1861, the Navy has been engaged in blockade duty since the fall of 1861. Since the fall of 1861, the Navy has been engaged in blockade duty since the fall of 1861.

Secretary Welles, meanwhile, reportedly was drafting an appeal for 18,000 volunteers to serve as seamen in the rapidly-expanding fleet.

The Navy's strength as of today stands at some 7,000 enlisted men and officers—on paper.

But it will take weeks to determine how many of this force have deserted to join the infant Confederate Navy.

Virginia's Army Ousts Brass Hats

Surplus Of Rank Prompts Action

RICHMOND, Va., April 27—The Army of Virginia unloaded its top brass today.

Under executive order of Gov. Letcher, all state militia officers holding ranks above captain were eased out, and their gradual assimilation into the regular army—at lesser grades—was begun.

Full command of the army has been assumed by Robert E. Lee, who resigned April 20 as a colonel in the Union Army and came to this Virginia city to take over his new top job.

IMPACT of today's order was hard felt at Harper's Ferry, scene two weeks ago of an ill-fated action in which several units of Southern forces attempted to seize the Union arsenal.

These organizations failed to stop the Federal garrison from virtually destroying the arsenal but wound up with it in their hands—with dozens of high-ranking officers milling about.

As of today, full control of the Harper's Ferry forces goes to Col. Thomas J. Jackson, former professor at the Virginia Military Institute. He arrived on the arsenal site still wearing his staid professor's uniform.

'Frontier Guard' Folds Its Tents

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27—The Headquarters Frontier Guard—one of the most unique outfits in military history—was discharged in a body today.

The HFG was thrown together hastily a few weeks ago to protect the White House as clouds of war shaped up and the capital was without adequate defense.

Its members—colorfully garbed in outfits ranging from business suits to frontier clothes—have been sleeping on carpets in the White House ballrooms, lolling about on the grounds and popping up unexpectedly from every corner of the executive mansion.

Its "honorable discharge" was ordered in a letter from Secretary of War Simon C. Cameron and "cheerfully approved" by President Lincoln.

Arrival here two days ago of 1,200 Rhode Island troops, the 1,200-man Butler Brigade of Massachusetts and additional strength from New York brought the capital defense force to some 10,000 men.

CD TEST SHOWS SYSTEM FAST, AND RELIABLE

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—A full dress civil defense test—with wailing sirens and deserted streets—has proved the nation's warning system is "fast and reliable," but indicates many persons "would die needlessly."

That's the official appraisal of Friday's first phase of Operation Alert 1961—a test aimed at dispelling public fatalism by pounding home what might happen if 100 targets across the country were flattened by nuclear missiles.

President Kennedy sounded the warning himself shortly after the test began at 4 p.m. Eastern Standard Time when regular television and radio broadcasting stopped for half an hour.

WARNED PEOPLE

Going on the emergency Channel channels, Kennedy told the nation war was not expected, but he warned:

"Common prudence demands that we take all necessary measures to protect our homes, our institutions and our way of life so that they can survive should an enemy thrust war upon us."

"Unless individual Americans plan to protect their own families, the most ambitious and carefully organized activities of the government will prove inadequate."

A few hours later the director of civil and defense mobilization said many people aren't prepared.

DON'T KNOW MEASURES

"The first hours of the simulated nuclear attack have already indicated that many would die needlessly because they do not know primary emergency preparedness measures for their own protection against radioactive fallout," said Frank B. Ellis, adding:

"As the exercise attack continues to unfold, we expect that our estimates of the number of fallout casualties will increase greatly."

The nationwide test was the climax of three days of efforts to prepare 7.5 million federal, state and local government employees, assigned to shoulder emergency duties during and after an actual attack.

No final critique was in, but parts of the test apparently ran smoothly.

FAST AND RELIABLE

"We have proved once again that our national warning system is fast and reliable," said Ellis. "We have positive knowledge that the emergency broadcast system, operating only with Conelrad stations, is ready on short notice to maintain the flow of life-protecting information from government to the people."

There was the darker side, too. "But we cannot escape the fact that most people do not yet realize that fallout shelter space already exists within numerous buildings and structures," said Ellis. "At small expense it could be made adequate to protect at least one-fourth of our population."

Africans Sent Abroad For An Education Usually Returned 'Partially Educated Radicals'

Editor's Note—A prime need of the Congo is education—but there are enormous difficulties, both on the higher and secondary level. They are explained in this last of a series on the Congo's big problems by John A. Kennedy, publisher and editor-in-chief of the Sioux Falls Argus-Leader, and Mrs. Kennedy. They just completed a tour of the troubled nation.

By JOHN A. KENNEDY
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—There were only 19 native Congolese college graduates in the whole of the Congo at the time it received independence last July.

In that fact, according to Dr. M. Dartique, senior educational consultant to the United Nations, lies the explanation for most of the Congo's troubles today.

He had traveled through the six provinces of the country on his special duties as a UNESCO representative several times before. On those trips he questioned the Belgians as to why they didn't send Congolese secondary school graduates to Brussels or other centers for university training.

"EDUCATED RADICAL"

The answers invariably were, he said, that students who were sent from other African colonies to England, France, or the United States to study came back as "partially educated radicals."

Mrs. Kennedy and I got about the same answers in our tour of the Congo, talking with its experts, inspecting its schools and colleges two years ago.

The Belgians started to create a university — Louvainum — that would be a credit to any nation. It is modeled after the centuries-old institution of the same name in the mother country.

More than $15 million was poured into its modern, beautiful, efficient plant and laboratories.

"AUDACIOUS MOVE"

It opened in 1964 with 33 students described by Monsignor L. Gillon, its president, as an "audacious move," considering the difficulty in recruiting students.

When we visited the Congo first in 1959, they had 450 students in its various colleges, two thirds of whom were Belgians. When we visited this time, all but 10 were Africans. There is a college of medicine, agronomy, engineering, and a school of law is being started. Louvainum's hospital is as modern as any in the United States.

The question of secondary education in the Congo is no less urgent.

Two years ago in Elisabethville, Mrs. Kennedy and I visited a Congolese grammar school. It was of the four-year variety but had students ranging in age from 8 to 25.

"SERIOUS PROBLEM"

Its director complained of a serious problem—the older students, when finished, didn't want to go to secondary school. Because of their age they felt they should be able to enter universi-

Says Leaf Spot May Become Serious

Should another warm, wet season occur this year, Adams County Farm Agent Frank S. Zettie told county cherry growers, leaf spot may become serious.

In a sour cherry spray information letter, Zettie said that leaf spot caused extensive defoliation following harvest in many orchards last year. In some orchards, brown rot blossom blight was common and was followed by rots at harvest.

Dichloro or captan, he wrote, will provide protection against leaf spot and brown rot. Good spray coverage on both sides of the leaves and on the flower buds is a must if leaf spot and brown rot are to be stopped.

Zettie said that farmers should ties and colleges on graduation—the equivalent of completion of the sixth and seventh grade in the United States.

The lack of a school system with sufficiently high standards on the secondary level, Monsignor Gillon says, is the worst problem facing the Congo.

"The aid which countries abroad must give the Congo is first and foremost a direct effort in the development of secondary education," he said. "In the immediate future, this aid must provide the Congo with secondary school teachers and help the Congo train its own teachers for this level of education."

"TOO LITTLE, TOO LATE"

Primary education was being pushed by the Belgians in the few years before independence—but unfortunately too little and too late.

There were about 1,500,000 students in schools before the chaotic independence of last July, but more than 900,000 were in the first two grades.

155 WOMEN AT SPECIAL MEET

One hundred fifty-five women attended the Homemakers' Day program Wednesday in the Cashtown Community Hall. The theme was "Women in Pennsylvania Today."

Miss Mercedes Hurst, public affairs consultant for the International Harvester Company, spoke on "Where Do We Go From Here." She said that "we each are dependent on one another in industry and business, agriculture and homemaking. Many all over the country have expressed a fear of communism and war, the economy of the country, the strength of religion and personal security."

A remedy of these fears is a "greater understanding of our capitalistic system, a belief in God and the dignity of war."

The Harrisburg Road Homemakers gave two humorous skits directed by Mrs. Herbert Zepp and Mrs. John K. Lott.

Leaders exhibited caning chairs and decorative stitchery. Garments made in the tailoring workshop were shown by Mrs. Irvin Conover, Frogtown; Mrs. Clarence Lough and Mrs. James Meyer, Conewago; and Mrs. Melvin Prosser, York Springs.

Miss Bette Goddard, assistant state leader, spoke on progress and problems of women in participating in public affairs programs and the sphere outside the home.

Mrs. Charles Morgenthaler spoke on quilt.

Mrs. Helen D. Tunison, extension home economist, summarized the year's work and an outline of the fall-winter program.

Lapel cards were made by the Mt. Joy Homemakers, table favors by the Hunt Avenue group and flower arrangements by the Cashtown Homemakers. Chairman for the day was Mrs. Charles Buying a USED CAR?

Timely Tips That Can Help Protect Your Investment!

1. Choose your dealer carefully.
2. Buy only from a well established reputable dealer.
3. Buy only from a dealer who maintains his own adequate facilities to service the car you buy.
4. Insist on a WARRANTY in writing that can be "backed-up."
5. BUYING from a NEW CAR DEALER IS YOUR BEST BET. . . . Most new car dealers sell locally owned trade-ins, not Used Cars obtained from Auto Auctions or distress merchandise from large cities.
6. Insist on knowing where the Used Car came from. "Ask who was the previous owner." Most new car dealers will be happy to tell you and invite you to contact the previous owner.
7. New Cars bought from Used Car Dealers . . . REMEMBER, only the New Car Dealer is authorized to extend a FACTORY WARRANTY to a buyer, NO ONE ELSE.

Around The TV Town

Most active Hollywood visitor in recent months is Polly Bergen, currently on leave from her panel seat on the CBS-TV "To Tell the Truth" series. Polly is wrapping up a starring role on an upcoming Alfred Hitchcock Presents episode, "Never Trust A Man," has accepted a bid for the Dinah Shore Show on NBC-TV May 9 and will go before the cameras on May 10 to star in a movie with Gregory Peck, "Cape Fear."

Charles A. Nichols, a veteran of the animation studios—he was with Walt Disney for 26 years as a top man, has switched to Hanna-Barbera Productions and among his duties will be to direct several episodes of "The Flintstones," the Friday night ABC-TV series which ran away with new season ratings last year.

One of the biggest fans of Betsy Palmer, panelist on "I've Got a Secret" is her neighborhood groceryman. "He's so proud of me," says Betsy. "When I'm good on the show he'll tell me, 'You guessed three last night.' Then he'll drop an extra goodie into my shopping bag as a reward." Betsy likes people and they like her and it always shines through on the home screens.

"SING ALONG WITH MITCH"

No show in the history of NBC has won such overwhelming approval as Mitch Miller's "Sing Along With Mitch."

So states Kay Cole, in charge of measuring mail reaction for the network.

"The gist of the mail," she reveals, "is that TV has found at last a show for 'all the family.'"

This reaction to the series, scheduled on alternate weeks on a limited basis, has prompted regular sponsorship starting in the fall.

The bearded maestro is going to be pitted against one of the strongest shows around ("The Untouchables") on Thursday nights from 10 to 11 p.m. (NYT) but he is not unduly concerned. He is extremely confident that his songfests can maintain popularity against the toughest opposition.

COLLYER, LONG-RUN KING

The easiest way to insure a long run for a radio or television program is to hire Bud Collyer to run it. All of his associations in both mediums during the 25 years he has been performing prove out that statement.

Not many artists can point to a 14-year-run with the same show. Collyer did it though in the role of "Superman" on radio. He was one of the first to enter TV when it was just a bud on the entertainment horizon. He has emceed "Beat the Clock" in its span of years before the camera, having started with the first show.

Now Collyer is building another longevity record with "To Tell the Truth," the Monday night CBS-TV panel show on which he is the moderator. He has been host on this show since its premiere away back on Dec. 18, 1956. His affable overseeing of the series is one of the major reasons that the latest poll of editors nationally by the fan magazine, Radio and TV Mirror, found "To Tell the Truth" selected as TV's "Best panel show."

NATIVE NEW YORKER

Bud, a native New Yorker, although he now lives in Greenwich, Conn., actually started out to be a lawyer. He worked hard at it, too. He got his degree from Fordham University and went to work as a clerk in a law firm. This, perhaps, was the shortest run in his career. Economics—he was getting $15 a week and desk space—dictated another field of endeavor. That's when he turned to performing, a decision he has never had cause to regret.

Q: Who was the first Mrs. Malone on "Young Dr. Malone?" Alan M.

A: The first Mrs. Malone was Virginia Dwyer.

Q: Will Playhouse "90" ever return to the air? Fred T.

A: CBS will use returns of the series this summer.

Q: Who sings the theme song of "Rawhide?" Gary L.

A: Frankie Laine.

June Allyson: Waited For The Right Show

By CHARLES J. LEAVY

When June Allyson appeared as "mystery guest" on "What's My Line?" visiting panelist Shelley Berman surprised everyone when, though blindfolded as the rest of panel, he identified June as the guest. When asked how he did it, he said, "There was just no denying that sibilant 's' no matter how hard she tried to disguise it."

To the hostess and occasional chorus assignments in other Broadway productions and in Manhattan's Copacabana.

As an understudy for Betty Hutton during the 1943 run of "Panama Hattie," Miss Allyson's brief performance won her a long term contract at MGM where she was a motion picture draw for a decade.

She made her screen debut with Mickey Rooney in "Girl Crazy," and a role in "Best Foot

sion of "The Du Pont Show With June Allyson."

INTEREST WOMEN

Miss Allyson explained that while the show presents dramas of general appeal, the emphasis is on stories of special interest to women.

"Each teleplay is set in a contemporary American background," she added, "and we limit comedy situations because we feel it's difficult to do comedy well in a half-hour unless you have a continuing series with time to develop the characters."

Although a newcomer to television, Miss Allyson has already established herself as an authority on story content and talent approval.

There's only one thing she refused to talk about—what the "boss" is paying her.

June Allyson, hostess and occasional star of The "Du Pont Show With June Allyson" star of CBS-TV's "The Du Pont Show With June Allyson" that sibilant sound and husky voice have become almost a trademark.

But there was a time when this young girl from the Bronx, as she recalls it now, was small and skinny and lisped and wasn't so universally recognized.

BORN IN BRONX

Born in the Bronx, she attended public schools and graduated with honors from Theodore Roosevelt High School.

She went under the name of Elaine Peters and she wanted to get into show business, but no matter how many amateur contests she entered, she never won, and no matter how many chorus line calls she answered, stardom still remained an elusive dream.

"Nobody wanted me then," June recalls.

Then two things happened. She was booked into a Montreal night club as a dancer. The pay was $60 a week, and it looked pretty good to the girl from the Bronx. The second thing? She changed her name to June Allyson.

From then on, there was no stopping the small, skinny girl who lisped.

DEBUT IN CHORUS

She made her Broadway debut in the chorus line of "Sing Out the News," and this was followed by Forward" followed. In her eighth screen role, "Two Sisters From Boston," she achieved stardom.

INDEPENDENT VENTURE

Miss Allyson made her first independent venture, after 10 years at MGM, in a co-starring role with James Stewart in "The Glenn Miller Story."

But she remained a stranger to television, making only one appearance. She was, she said, waiting for the right show to come along. It was a long wait, but in 1959 it was all over; June made her bow as a television regular in "The Du Pont Show With June Allyson."

"It was just what I was waiting for," June says. "It has given me a chance to play parts that I seldom did in motion pictures. We waited years for the right spot, and it was well worth the time."

By "we" Miss Allyson was referring to herself and her boss-husband Dick Powell who, as president of Four Star Productions, exercises over-all supervi-

Smiling her famous smile, she confides, "That's Richard's department."
